Council Highlights

A Message From Dr. Angela Hemingway, CEO

Celebrating Momentum, Community, and What's Ahead

This past month has been filled with moments that reflect the strength and spirit of our Council, and I am so incredibly grateful to each of you who make this work possible. Our Annual Meeting was a success! Volunteers from across the council tuned in, lending their voices and helping shape our future. Together, we officially adopted our modernized bylaws and voted in a phenomenal new slate of board members. Their leadership, passion, and commitment to girls will serve our movement well! We also looked at a draft of our Vision 2030 and will continue to seek your feedback as we work with you to develop our roadmap for the future. I am excited for the journey ahead.

Additionally, we had the joy of coming together to celebrate girls, volunteers, and partners at our Honoring Excellence "Brighter Together" Recognition Events in Idaho Falls and Boise. These gatherings were a powerful reminder that Girl Scouting thrives because of the dedication of our volunteers, the courage and creativity of our girls, and the generosity of our partners. From troop leaders to community champions, the impact you have made this past year is extraordinary! I am so inspired by all that we have accomplished together.

As we look ahead, I hope to see many of you out in our communities this spring. Please join us for our Community Bloom event in Boise on May 9 where you will have a chance to connect, celebrate, and continue growing Girl Scouting together. Then, on May 16, we will celebrate an exciting milestone with our Pocatello Office ribbon-cutting event. I would love to see you there as we mark this new chapter.

If our paths don't cross in May, I'll be looking for you this summer at CAP, TAM, and Camp Echo. I truly hope to see you soon. Thank you for all you do for our girls!

Get STEM This Summer with Micron and INL

Powered by Micron and Idaho National Laboratory, our STEM Day Camps spark curiosity, creativity, and confidence through hands-on learning and real-world exploration. From problem-solving challenges to interactive experiments, each day encourages campers to imagine themselves as innovators and leaders, all in an engaging day-camp experience. Financial assistance is available upon request.

INL STEM Scholars Camp - CO-ED, Grades 3-5

Created by Idaho National Laboratory and guided by Girl Scout Staff & Volunteers, the STEM Scholars Engineering Design Camp invites youth to become engineers for four action-packed days of building, designing, testing, and dreaming big. Throughout the week, they'll explore:

- Energy and water systems
- Simple machines
- Real-world problem-solving
- Hands-on prototyping and recycled-material builds
- A parent showcase on Day 4

9:00 AM drop-off | 9:30-3:00 PM programming | 3:00-3:30 PM pickup | NO AFTER CARE, NO SESSION ON FRIDAY

These camps are open to the public and welcome all youth, while following Girl Scouts of Silver Sage safety standards and best practices to ensure a supportive and secure learning environment.

Micron Camps: Science of Self - Girl Scouts, Grades 6-12

What makes us happy? In The Science of Self & Expression, girls explore the fascinating connections between science, creativity, and human behavior through hands-on activities, self-discovery, and storytelling. By the end of camp, girls will have built a deeper understanding of themselves and others, created meaningful visual stories, and gained confidence using science and creativity as tools for expression.

Along the way, they'll collaborate with peers, practice leadership and reflection, and enjoy classic camp fun in a supportive, empowering environment.

Micron Camps: Coding to Robotics - Girl Scouts, Grades 6-12

During the first half of the week, campers learn foundational coding skills-such as functions, loops, conditionals, and data-by creating games, interactive designs, and app prototypes that make a positive impact. In the second half, girls apply those same coding concepts to robotics as they explore how robots work, build and program robot systems, and design a robot prototype to solve a real-world challenge. The week concludes with a Coding & Robotics Showcase, where campers present their digital projects and robotic creations, earn Girl Scout Coding for Good and Robotics badges, and explore future pathways in STEM-all while enjoying classic camp fun

Help Your Teen Build Smart Savings Habits

Want to set your teen up for financial success? Teach them how to save.

If they don't have a checking or savings account already, help them open one. Encourage them to save a portion of any money they receive, whether it's from allowance, gifts or a job.

To motivate your teen, help them set savings goals for things they care about, like new clothes, trips or their first car. You might choose to add to their savings, or let them save on their own. What's important is that they know they're responsible: they'll need to save to get what they want.

By giving your teen opportunities to save and spend under your guidance, they'll be better prepared to make smart financial decisions as adults.
